Canadians Clear 8-Mile Circle Round Antwerp

LONDON (CP)—British 2nd Army troops in heavy fighting along the Nijmegen-Arnhem corridor today gained a mile in an eastward advance, the 1st Canadian Army has cleared the Germans from positions along an eight-mile arc north of Antwerp and United States Infantry and armor plunged into a widening hole in the Siegfried Line near Ubach.

Troops of the 1st Canadian Army have cleared the Germans from the east bank of the Schelde as far as Lillo, about five miles northwest of Antwerp, and have nearly reached the Belgian-Netherlands frontier at Putte, 10 miles north of Antwerp. Northwest of Antwerp they reached Fort de Brasschaet while at Baarle Nassau, six miles north of Turnhout, 1st Army troops regained ground lost Wednesday and advanced farther.

On the U.S. 1st Army front in the Ubach area, masses of artillery, including 10-inch guns, tore many Germans from their defenses. The U.S. troops captured Beggenhof, two miles east of Ubach.

TANK TRAPS ATTACKED

The Germans battled fiercely, rushing up reinforcements and bringing to bear every possible gun in an effort to prevent the crumbling of the entire Siegfried Line north of Aachen. Already the original Westwall had been pierced and the Americans were attacking with fresh energy the tank traps, earthworks and pillboxes hastily erected behind it.

The centre of enemy resistance was a hill just east of Herbach and south of captured Ubach. The Yanks stormed the height, knocking out three mutually supporting pillboxes, forcing a fourth to raise the white flag.

To the south, the U.S. 3rd Army engaged in a grim fight atop Fort Driant, a key stronghold southwest of Metz. Germans had holed up in the concrete fastnesses of an underground labyrinth.

SIX-MILE FRONT

Lt.-Gen. Dempsey's main attack eastward was launched on a six-mile front from south of Arnhem and about two miles from the famous bridge for which the British 1st Airborne Division had battled in vain. The British troops aimed in the direction of Panndensch, eight miles southeast of Arnhem and the same distance northeast of Nijmegen.

Farther south, Allied armor attacking from the eastern side of the Nijmegen corridor near Venray advanced several miles from Meijel, established a front along the Noeren Canal north of Venlo, and fought forward slowly across marshy land from Overloon.

200 Comb Islands In Hope Missing Fliers Parachuted

Western Air Command officials said today the R.C.A.F. bomber which crashed Wednesday on Salt Spring Island, disintegrated to such an extent that it is impossible to determine at the present time whether the entire 11-man crew was in the aircraft when it went down. Bodies of three of the airmen were found in the wreckage Wednesday, and the eight other fliers were reported missing.

More than 200 airmen and volunteers continued searching today for the eight missing men.

One hundred Pacific Coast Militia Rangers are scouring the Cowichan Bay area of Vancouver Island for traces of the missing fliers, while the Salt Spring Aircraft Detection Corps is combing the tiny Gulf Islands for clues as to their whereabouts. Air Force officials have expressed the hope that the men may have parachuted to safety.

Cardinals Score Winning Run In Eleventh Inning

SPORTSMAN'S PARK, ST. LOUIS—Pinch-hitter Ken O'Dea's line single into right field in the 11th inning, scoring Ray Sanders from second, gave the Cardinals a 3 to 2 victory over the Browns in the second game of the World Series here today. The results tied the baseball classic at one game apiece, the Browns having won the opener Wednesday 2 to 1.

After the Cardinals had taken a 2 to 0 lead with single runs in the third and fourth innings the Browns came roaring back to tie it up with two runs in the seventh. The clubs played heads up ball until the dramatic climax in the 11th. Sanders opened with a single into centre field and was sacrificed to second by Kurrowski. Marty Marion was given an intentional pass. O'Dea was sent in to pinch hit for Verban and tied the ball into right field to score Sanders.

Pitching hero of the game was Blix Donnelly, who went in as relief hurler for the Cards in place of Max Lanier in the eighth. In the four innings he worked Blix struck out seven and in the eighth, with Kreevich resting on second base by virtue of a double, he struck out three men.

Nelson Potter opened on the mound for the Browns, but was lifted for a pinch hitter in the seventh. Bob Muncie took over, to be charged with the defeat.

B.C.-Yukon Victory Loan Increased to $130,000,000

British Columbia and the Yukon will be asked to invest $130,000,000 in the seventh Victory Loan, which opens Oct. 23, it was announced from Victory Loan headquarters today by George Kidd, chairman of the B.C.-Yukon division of the National War Finance Committee.

This is a substantial increase over last year's quota of $120,000,000, but Mr. Kidd said, the increase was fully expected.

The public and the armed forces will be asked to subscribe $54,600,000 in the three weeks of the campaign, and Victory Loan officials are confident that the money will be raised because it is almost $3,000,000 less than the $57,316,550 that the armed forces and the public contributed to the sixth Victory Loan last spring.

The quota of $54,600,000 is, however, loan officials pointed out, $5,600,000 in excess of last year's quota.

It is anticipated that large applications from corporations will bring in approximately $46,000,000. The remaining $8,600,000 of the B.C. quota is expected to come from B.C.'s share of national applications, which comprise Victory Bond orders placed in the east by large concerns with branches here. These three together bring this territory's obligation in the new campaign to the record figure of $130,000,000.

The public response to the sixth loan was magnificent, Mr. Kidd said and was realized from the following sources: From the armed forces, $3,542,500; from employees of factories and large offices operating under the payroll savings plan, $13,457,300; from the remainder of the public, householders, housewives, employees of small establishments, $40,316,750.

Wilby Admits Guilt

NEW YORK (AP)—Ralph M. Wilby, 39, a $6,000-a-year executive of a department store management firm, pleaded guilty in general sessions court today to grand larceny.

Wilby, a Canadian citizen who gave his address as Vancouver, B.C., was arrested March 12 by city police at a hotel in Victoria, B.C., to answer an indictment returned here in February charging 17 counts of grand larceny involving $275,584.

The District Attorney's office said Wilby, who was assistant treasurer of the William T. Knott Co. Inc., used the name of Alexander Douglas Hume four years ago in obtaining a job with the company, which operates 15 department stores in the mid-west and south. Last year he was made assistant treasurer. He was charged with having stolen from the company by establishing four fictitious textile mills in New Jersey and appropriating money paid by the firm's stores to the mills for supposed materials.

Pacific Air Unit Will Be Composed Of Volunteer Men

By JACK BRAYLEY
OTTAWA (CP)—The end of recruiting, immediate demobilization of 4,200 potential aircrew, a first-in-first-out general demobilization plan and formation of a Pacific air unit made up of volunteers were announced at a press conference here today by Air Minister Power.

In announcing there would be no more recruiting for the force, which now has a strength of 204,000 men, he answered the question which had been widely asked since Oct. 1, date of the scheduled resumption of recruiting after a summer moratorium.

Giving statistics on the Commonwealth Air Training Plan, Maj. Power said it had graduated 114,253 aircrew members, of whom 60,503 were R.C.A.F. personnel. Total cost of the plan was $2,304,000,000, of which Canada had laid out $1,631,000,000, of this amount a total of $442,500,000 being recoverable from Britain. (See page 2 for other statistics of Commonwealth Air Training Plan.)

Maj. Power said an aircrew reserve of 4,200 waiting to start training in various schools throughout the country would be given a chance of volunteering for either the army or the navy, and pointed out that the "mechanics" were already set up for arranging such a transfer.

Draft Alternative For Non-Volunteers

He added that if the men did not volunteer they would be subject to military call under the National Resources Mobilization Act.

This surplus of trainees was accumulated with the rolling up of the air training plan and the lowering of the incidence of overseas casualties.

He gave no indication as to when the general demobilization plan would start, but it was suggested this would be a gradual process spread over many months.

He did say that these demobilized men would not be subject to military recall, and referred to military regulations that said men with two years of useful service did not have to respond to new mobilization.

READY TO FLEE

All these have been reported ready to flee northward on a moment's notice to escape the jaws of a great trap closing in on the whole Balkans with Russians advancing from the east and Allied forces with patriot support striking from the west.

The landing forces were believed to be of small size compared with those which carried out the major invasions of Africa, Sicily, Italy and France.

In Albania the Allied forces were attempting to cut enemy communications around the port of Sarande, supply base for the German garrison of the strongly-defended island of Corfu (Kerkyra).

114,253 Aircrew Graduated
At Cost of $2,304,000,000

OTTAWA (CP)—Air Minister Power, disclosing in an interview for the first time full details of the big Commonwealth Air Training Plan which had graduated 114,253 aircrew members for the war period up to Aug. 25, said today that "so long as trained aircrew are required to accomplish the defeat of our enemies, so long will the plan continue to operate."

Of the total number of graduates from the "Airdrome of Democracy," 60,303 were R.C.A.F. personnel, 39,637 R.A.F., of which a small number were Royal Navy Fleet Air Arm pilots; 8,067 R.A.F., and 6,026 R.N.Z.A.F.

Maj. Power spoke on "advantageous developments" which made a gradual curtailment program possible and said "that trend will be continued in direct proportion to the number of trained aircrew demanded in the operational theatres."

R.A.F. CUTS DOWN

Both Australia and New Zealand had discontinued sending men to Canada, but there was a "considerable number" of men from those two Dominions still in training here. The R.A.F. had cut down the numbers it had been sending to restricted classifications.

Giving statistics showing total cost of the plan had amounted to $2,304,000,000, he said Canada had laid out $1,631,000,000 in cash, and of this amount a total of $442,500,000 was recoverable from Britain.

He added: "Negotiations now are under way designed to provide the United Kingdom government the means of liquidating this account." He did not elaborate, but a possibility was that mutual aid might enter into the settlement.

Australia and New Zealand have made a total cash contribution of $207,000,000.

The original plan called for a peak aircrew production of 20,864 annually. With expansion of the program in 1941, the sights were raised to a planned peak of 52, 503, to be reached by June of this year.

PEAK IN FEBRUARY

An actual peak rate was reached in February, when 11,000 training planes were in use and 3,899 aircrew graduated for an annual rate of 50,700. But a new agreement between Canada and Britain in the same month lowered the objective to a rate of 20,965.

"Because of the time-lag," Mr. Power explained, "and the fact that aircrew now are training to meet requirements 18 months hence, the actual production during August was approximately 3,215, or at an annual rate of 38,864. The lower rate will be reached next spring."

The cumulative total of trainees from all sources entered on aircrew training courses from the inauguration of the plan in April, 1940, to Aug. 25 was 158,221, of whom 114,253 graduated and 25,109 failed and became ground crewmen or went to other services.

Today, there are 23,859 men in aircrew training and of this total 13,856 are R.C.A.F. personnel.

LONGER TRAINING

"It should be noted," Mr. Power said, "that personnel now commencing training remain in the plan for an average of 12 months and after graduation they require a further period of post-graduate and operational training and familiarization of from six to eight months. On the average a period of 18 to 20 months elapses between the time an airman commences aircrew training and the day he fires his first shot at the enemy. Statistics of present training production should therefore be considered in the light of the fact that the plan now is operating in anticipation of what may be our requirements 1½ years hence."

Mr. Power provided this statistical picture of the plan:

	Total	R.C.A.F.
Pilot graduates	42,364	22,113
Navigator graduates	37,973	16,278
Wireless graduates	19,619	16,318
Engineer graduates	12,708	16,445
Engineer graduates, etc.	167	291

School Strike Ends
At Windsor, Ont.

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Secondary school students who were on strike for the past day and a half in protest against the cancellation of interschool football this year, returned to their classes this morning. Police reported no disturbances as the students answered the 9 o'clock bell.

City police were on hand at all the schools in the event that some students would object to the back-to-school order issued by their representatives.

The main object of the strike was to get interschool football resumed immediately, and Wednesday night the Windsor Athletic Directors' and Coaches' Association announced it was ready to resume coaching and start the schedule at once.

T. Roy Noble* of the Windsor board of education said it would cost $39,000 in coaching salaries to meet the students' demands, and that sum was not available.

Victory Loan Campaign
Will Start October 23

In announcing the seventh Victory Loan quota of $130,000,000 for the B.C. Yukon Territory today, George Kidd, chairman of this division of the National War Finance Committee, pointed out that while the favorable turn of war events may have led some people to think that Canada's financial requirements would be lightened, the reverse is actually the case.

The three-week loan campaign opens Monday, Oct. 23, and the public and armed forces will be asked for $54,600,000 of the total quota.

Continuing his statement, Mr. Kidd said, "Our former loans provided the preparations, the building of airfields and factories, the establishment of reserves of weapons and ammunition and supplies of all kinds."

"While it is true that the expensive preparatory phase is finished, since D-Day our forces have been in full combat with the consequent destruction of equipment and demobilization of material of all kinds."

"The current borrowing requirements reflect these increased costs that could not be anticipated at the time of the last budget."

STAGGERING FIGURES

"Gen. Eisenhower revealed that in the first 70 days of operations in northern France, more than 800 tanks, 1,750 jeeps, 3,000 airplanes had to be replaced, and 150,000 tons of ammunition a month were being expended. A total of 44,000,000 gallons of aviation gasoline were used, while 55,000 tons of bombs were dropped."

"In the final grim struggle to knock Germany out of the war," Mr. Kidd said, "no one will deny that our men must have an unceasing flow of every item they require. Only by having too much of everything can they be sure of having enough."

"Even when Germany is brought to her knees, our heavy expenditures must be continued. An army of occupation must control the beaten foe and her satellites."

THE PACIFIC ALSO

"Thousands of men and thousands of tons of equipment must be transported halfway around the world to intensify the war against Japan, and to smash her quickly. Canada will play her full part in this Pacific war also. 'Victory won't be won,' said Mr. Kidd, 'until our boys are home, the wounded and the sick looked after, and every fighting man re-established with a job.'"

"The starving, homeless people of the liberated countries must be fed and clothed until they can take their place again in our economic society."

"All these things are reflected in our request for a greater degree of savings at this time, and a still greater response to the Seventh Victory Loan appeal."

"THE MONEY IS HERE"

"I am confident that the minimum will be not only raised, but that there will be a substantial over-subscription which will set a new record for this territory."

"The citizens of British Columbia and the Yukon have always responded splendidly when called upon and, although a sum of this size will undoubtedly entail very well organized work and intensive sales coverage by all local National War Finance Committees, and a thorough self-discipline in the matter of saving on the part of every individual, it is obvious that the money is here."

"In the first place," Mr. Kidd said, "the elimination of compulsory savings will enable many people to buy more Victory Bonds."

"A fall loan is favorable because farmers and fruit growers will know the results of their labors—and farm income is certain to be very substantially increased in B.C. this year."

"Employment is still at full tide despite the fact that there has been—and will continue to be—a slackening off in some of the larger war industry plants due to changes in types of material required, with a consequent shifting of workers to other fields."

BOND VALUE RECOGNIZED

Mr. Kidd said that a favorable factor for the coming campaign was the developing "Victory Bond consciousness" of the public. "Many people," he said, "have built up a substantial reserve in Victory Bonds, and are fully alive to the security value of their savings and to the postwar possibilities of this money a year or two hence."

"They are also now fully aware of the fact that these bonds can be cashed in an emergency; also that these bonds pay double bank interest; and that one can borrow on them cheaply and readily in a pinch."

"Canadians are also fully conscious of the fact that their savings, through Victory Bonds and War Savings Certificates, and the consequent reduction of needless spending, have been a potent factor in averting inflation, thus helping to keep Canada on an economic even keel."

Mr. Kidd said he expected leadership to again come from the members of the armed forces. During the sixth loan more than $15,000,000 was invested in Victory Bonds by the men and women of our forces overseas. Often the signing of the application was arranged in the front lines under shell fire.

WORKERS IN VITAL ROLE

"In each loan," said Mr. Kidd, "the payroll savings plan, whereby workers in large establishments form their own committees and canvass their fellow workers, has become increasingly important."

"There are some 412 establishments in this category in B.C., Yukon, and in the coming loan the employees will be asked, on the average, to invest at least 15 per cent of their wages in Victory Bonds."

"During the sixth loan in this area (excluding large applications) there were 269,616 individual purchasers of Victory Bonds who averaged an investment of $212."

"Both these figures," said Mr. Kidd, "must be stepped up this time. We are aiming for 300,000 individual buyers; and for every dollar that can be raised above our quota—a quota that must be regarded as a bare minimum."

Important Gains
By Allies in Italy

ROME (CP)—Indian forces of the British 8th Army, fighting in the rain-drenched Adriatic sector of the Italian front, have cleared the village of San Donato, today's Allied communique said, while in the centre of the front British and U.S. units of the Allied 5th Army made what headquarters termed "important gains" in the face of tough enemy resistance.

U.S. troops took the important feature of Monte Venero and now are engaged in heavy fighting 1,000 yards south of Lofano, a key junction on the Florence-Bologna road.

Wednesday night the 8th Army was reported stalled along the rain-swollen Fiumicino River, on the opposite side of which the enemy is strongly entrenched. Canadian units engaged in sharp patrol activity.

Slight gains were reported by British and Indian units moving on Imola and Faenza, towns astride the Rimini-Bologna highway.

Black Dragon Head

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Japan's Domei news agency today announced the death of Mitsuru Toyama, 80-year-old head of the Black Dragon Society, Japanese terrorist patriotic organization. The dispatch said the "saint" of the terrorist movement died

ANTWERP was a glittering prize for the Canadian troops, Southam correspondent, Dick-Sanburn, reports. First chance the troops have had since they landed on the continent to see European life when they get a respite from fighting, the prize is all the sweeter because it is wrested from the enemy. Vast warehouses and refrigeration plants contain tremendous amounts of food which the Germans intended for themselves, including 10,000 tons of top-grade Danish pork and beef. Canadian cooks are delighted at the opportunity of serving chops and steaks to the men. Other warehouses contained 70,000 bottles of wine and hundreds of gallons of cognac in big wooden casks, hundreds of thousands of cigars and millions of German cigarettes, the heavy, pungent, Turkish type which the Germans like.

VANCOUVER reports enlistments in the army for the first nine months of the year are double what they were last year but C.W.A.C. enlistments are down 65 per cent. Days of hording seem to be over. Lifting of the tea and coffee ration didn't start a rush of buying in Victoria, grocers say. Wholesalers were a bit busier meeting orders of retailers who wished to carry more stock and a greater variety on their shelves. A Scot writes to the papers to say that England and the Allies can stop worrying about what to do with Germany after the war. Logical thing to do, he says, is to turn it over to the Scots. And he adds that he thinks Ian Mackenzie should run the country. National Institute for the Blind is featuring an all-blind orchestra which is playing for dances.

U.S. Federal Communications Commission for Far Eastern monitors described him as "one of the most powerful political bosses in Japan, believed to be the power behind the Tojo government and responsible for the present greater east Asia war."

Domei referred to Toyama as "a most respected leader among Japanese patriots" through the rule of three emperors. It said he "took under his protective wing the nationalists of greater east Asia," including Wang Ching-wei, president of the puppet Chinese Nanking government, and Subhas Chandra Bose, Japanese-sponsored India leader.

U.S. Submarines Sink
8 More Jap Ships,
3 War Craft

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. submarines, ripping Japanese supply lines, have destroyed another 11 enemy vessels, including three war craft, the navy announced today.

The fighting craft included a destroyer, an escort vessel and a seaplane tender, all of which may have been trying to protect Japanese convoys from American underwater attacks.

Also included in the latest bag of the submarines were six cargo ships and a large tanker from the rapidly dwindling Japanese fleet of fuel-carrying craft.

Also destroyed was a cableship, indicating the submarines may have been engaged in breaking or preventing repair of enemy communication lines.

The newly-reported sinkings raised to 924 the number of Japanese vessels of all types sunk, probably sunk or damaged by submarine action. They include 772 enemy craft definitely destroyed, 37 probably sunk and 115 damaged. Of the ships destroyed, 67 were combatant craft of the Japanese navy.

CIVIC CENTRE FOR CITY

NOW THAT THE MEMBERS OF THE City Council have unanimously gone on record as favoring the adoption of the Citizens' Arena Committee's plan for the erection of a publicly-owned civic centre—rather than a privately-owned arena—it is up to the public to give practical demonstration as to whether it wants such an institution or not. Of Victoria's need of an establishment of this kind there is not the shadow of a doubt; and unless we are greatly mistaken, the majority of the ratepayers will accept their share of the responsibility involved in launching the project.

New Westminster, Nanaimo, Nelson and Vernon, to mention but a few cities, have built civic recreation centres, and the success of each of these ventures is a challenge to the civic pride and public spirit of every resident of the Greater Victoria area. There is no need to enlarge here on the dividends such an institution for wholesome recreation would pay in healthy, happy youth. But the scheme proposed by the Citizens' Arena Committee embraces not merely an arena; it embodies the nucleus of a real civic centre capable of being used as an auditorium for big conventions, musical festivals, concerts and all the amenities for which Victoria has so long felt a need.

After all, this is the capital city of British Columbia, advertised in normal times all over the world as the centre of the "Playground of the Pacific Coast." And this is no hollow boast. Nature has been lavish in her endowments to this community—capital assets which not only do not dwindle but which can be strengthened in their appeal to the visitor by the application of a little intelligent self-interest through self-help. The climatic and geographic advantages this part of Vancouver Island enjoys, however, can be made to pay greater dividends by the creation of other attractions of an educative and entertaining character.

On this and many other counts, a recreational, cultural and general entertainment centre added to the many other attractive appeals of this community should be an advertisement in itself, as well as a magnet for visitors from afar. It is now up to the citizenry as a whole, therefore, to give the plan approved by the members of the City Council not merely lip support but that practical backing which is so essential.

WON THEIR PROMOTIONS

IT IS PARTICULARLY GRATIFYING TO note that merit alone was the factor which governed Minister of Justice St. Laurent in the judicial promotions in British Columbia just announced. Although Mr. Justice Bird became a member of the Supreme Court bench comparatively recently, he has won his spurs, is highly respected by and popular with the legal fraternity, and the public knows him for a wise judge. The new chief of the Court of Appeal, Mr. Justice Sloan, to whose elevation we have already referred in these columns, paid him a fine and well-deserved tribute yesterday. He will be a valued member of the province's highest tribunal. For many years County Court Judge A. M. Happer has discharged the heavy and exacting duties of his office with marked ability, and richly deserved his elevation to the Supreme Court bench. Promotions based on merit insure the preservation of the dignity and high reputation of the courts.

NAZI LIFELINE CUT

MANY TIMES HAVE WE REFERRED in these columns to the great importance which the Nazi high command always attached to the Dortmund-Embs Canal since the R.A.F. first attacked it in the late fall of 1940. Several of the 19 locks which dot its 170-mile course have been damaged from time to time; but evidently not seriously enough to dislocate traffic for very long periods. But the British bombers which gave it a pasting on Sept. 23—only just made public—must have done a thorough job. Yesterday's dispatches describe it as the "most important air attack on German communications so far," and added that the economic and military effects would be far-reaching. They tell us that reconnaissance photographs show long lines of barges lying helpless on the bottom of the canal, that some of the bombs shattered great safety gates, and loosed flood waters over hundreds of acres deep in the rear of the Siegfried Line. From this description it would appear that the damage is somewhat similar in scale and effect to that which the Lancasters inflicted under Wing Commander Gibson, V.C., on the Moehne and Eder dams in the spring of last year.

The history of the canal now apparently without its water is interesting. At the beginning of the century the development of waterways in Germany went hand in hand with the nationalization and extension of the railway system. The era of state railways, in other words, was simultaneously an era of canal construction on a large scale—the one means of transport being regarded as complementary to the other. The Dortmund-Embs waterway owed its origin to a scheme which began to materialize in the mid-1800s, part of a plan to provide an entirely German outlet for the Westphalian industrial district. It runs from Dortmund to Meppen, where it joins the canalized Ems and then follows the open river to Emden. It has a surface width of 99 feet and a depth of 11 to 12 feet. The total fall is 230 feet, overcome by the 19 locks to which we have referred, and a ship-lift; it will accommodate craft up to 800 tons.

While the destruction of the canal itself is of tremendous importance and value to the Allied high command, the blow is especially timely because it follows the accelerated devastation wreaked on railways, rolling stock, marshalling yards and industry generally. It robs the enemy of his surest and cheapest form of transportation when he needs it most urgently. Nor is this all; the constant attention which the Nazi bomber commands have paid to the difficulties for motor traffic. The sadly-depleted Luftwaffe and the thousands of armored vehicles have priority on the available gasoline supply. So this death-blow to the Dortmund-Embs Canal may well have disastrous economic and military effects on the Fuehrer's remaining plans.

ONTARIO HYDRO SUCCEEDS

IT HAS TAKEN A GREAT NUMBER OF years to bring about rural electrification which at present obtains in the province of Ontario. Hydro was developed for a long time on the basis of providing power at a low price for secondary industries and to the citizens of urban communities for domestic purposes at reasonable rates. The rural business was created as the service line network spread throughout the province. It has been run by business and technical experts and only because of the elasticity of the service which is provided has the Hydro Commission been able to enlarge its scope.

The foregoing is the gist of points made by the Moose Jaw Times in a discussion of the manner in which the Hydro system has succeeded in Ontario—how astute management and the consistent policy of keeping its business out of politics have played no small part in its development, how, in short, operation on sound business lines has produced satisfactory returns. Many will recall that the provincial government of Ontario helped with the initial financing and has stood behind the obligations. And not only is the great system paying its own way, liquidating its debts; it is also providing reserves for depreciation, obsolescence and expansion, while the efficiency of its financing is reflected by the fact that its debentures rank high on the investment market. The following extract from our Moose Jaw contemporary's article, moreover, makes interesting reading:

"Hydro has not been kicked around as a political football. It is not a government-owned venture which has been used for party convenience or to influence votes. It is owned by the government of Ontario and operated by the Hydro Commission. The Commission has not been interfered with by the successive governments in any scheme to get votes by raising rates in urban areas so that electrical current can be supplied at lower rates to rural areas."

Understanding the management of the electrical production and transmission business, those in charge have realized that quantity sale of electrical energy is a big factor in price. Distribution of electrical energy in an urban center where there are many users in a small area can be done at much less cost than where the consumers are miles apart as they are in any rural area in Canada."

It is common knowledge, of course, that quite frequently in Ontario both the commission and the government have found it necessary to direct public attention to the position of the Hydro system to offset the propaganda that it is a government undertaking which everyone with a vote can use as a target when the spirit moves. The record shows, however, that politicians who have tried to manipulate the utility for sinister advantage have invariably met with a very definite reaction from the voting public as a whole.

ON THE BRITISH LIST

MR. CHURCHILL HAS TOLD THE House of Commons that Hitler, Goering, Goebbels and Himmler are on the British list of war criminals. What procedure of trial would be followed, however, the Prime Minister could not tell Parliament. Nor was he able to give any precise information on the United Nations' list at present.

The point on which the general public in Allied countries wants assurance, of course, is that not only shall the punishment fit the crimes but also that none of the diplomatic proprieties shall prevent the apprehension of those totalitarian criminals who may find their way by devious routes into neutral states. Several of these countries have officially declared their intention to refuse asylum to any whose names eventually will appear in the Allied criminal list.

On more than one occasion Mr. Churchill has made it abundantly clear that the leaders of the Axis gang will be brought to trial and dealt with accordingly. It is to be hoped that no squeamishness on the part of some elements of the public will be permitted to influence that resolve.

THE MALE KISS OF AUTUMN

CANADIANS MUST know the autumn better and feel its touch more keenly than any other people. Like our spring, which is less a season than an explosion, the Canadian autumn bursts upon us not as a mere lapse in summer, not as a period of death and decay only, but as a time of vast and feverish preparation.

Like Nature, man prepares for the great change of winter. He first gets in his crop, and no man who lacks a crop can know the mellow comfort of autumn. Though your crop, like mine, consists of 15 sacks of potatoes, a hundred pounds of onions, seven squashes, 15 boxes of apples, minor quantities of carrots and a few swollen heads of cabbage, still you can feel the oldest satisfaction of our species.

Your crop is in against the winter. As you store it away, as you cunningly braid your onions upon their suspended strings, as you wheelbarrow the squashes from the garden, like a parent wheeling a baby, to avoid the danger of shock, as you pick the apples from the tree, fondling each to prevent bruises, as the last potato is safely lifted from the earth, you know how your grandfather felt when the long barn and underground root cellar were full. You know how your remote ancestor felt when he had laid aside some dinosaur bones and a few herbs in the darkness of his autumn cave.

The true farmers are laying in the last of their crop now, from the tiny fishing farms of Nova Scotia to the apple valley of the Okanagan and the lush delta of the Fraser River. The countryman is heaping up his woodpile. Every small boy is examining his skates in the basement. People are wondering where they stored their skis during the summer. In the mountains the railway men are looking to the snowsheds, and on the prairies to the snow fences. The motorist wonders if it is time for anti-freeze.

BUT THESE HUMAN preparations do not compare with the labors of Nature at this season. Keats represents autumn in his ode as a soft female figure, lolling on a granary floor, her hair soft-lifted by the winnowing wind, drowsed with the fume of poppies, and tipsy with the season's hard cider. That may be the English autumn. It is not the autumn of Canada, whose rough male kiss can be felt in these frosty dawns, whose strong muscles even now are slowly fashioning the structure of our winter.

There is no relief for Nature's labors here as in Keats' England. In every growing thing the Canadian autumn must put forth now its supreme effort. Seed pods must be formed and seeds ripened on great maple trees and oaks and in the lowliest weeds that hug the ground. Beyond the measurement of man and greater than all his combined power of machinery is the energy which nature uses now to unload the leaves of tree and shrub, which do not fall but are thrust off, each one separately, by the thin wall of tissue now being built like a dyke at the bottom of the leaf stem.

With equal labor, Nature begins her autumn chemistry, that complicated clash of molecules and atoms which paints the leaves in autumn color, which splashes crimson from the Maritimes to the Lakes and yellow across the poplars of the prairies and British Columbia. This is no mere fading, a painless process of death. It is accomplished only with a burst of energy which leaves autumn exhausted at the doorstep of winter.

IT IS ONLY a small part of the season's job. All the wood of Canada, the unimaginable myriad of tree trunks and brush stalks must be ripened, each cell drained of moisture, the sap drawn off by a process which no man has yet explained, the wood guarded against the bursting frost of winter. In the earth the largest half of all vegetable life, of all life upon this planet, the root systems, must be battened down before the great cold comes.

And even now in the mountains autumn begins the work of winter with the chemistry of frost, with the first hardening of the moisture at night. Around minute trickles from the rocks a white rime is forming. Then the ice, cell by cell, begins to advance from the edge of the upland brook and presently, in huge white pillars, in towering walls of ice, in frozen gargoyles clinging to the lip of the torrent, Nature builds the silent Gothic architecture of winter, after autumn's bright frescoes and the flowery rococo of the lost summer.

Today's WAR NEWS Analysis

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Associated Press War Analyst

We shouldn't allow the thunder of the guns of war to drown the significance of Gen. de Gaulle's declaration that the French government gradually will take over complete control of the country's economy.

"It shall be an organization of industry," says the general, "in which all who participate shall be considered associates. We no longer can permit the concentration of interests which in England and America are called trusts and which today do not meet the needs of social betterment."

While De Gaulle allows exact interpretation of his pronouncement to fall where it will, it's clear that he's signalling a great change in France to avoid, as he says, "the prewar political, social and moral situation which took us to the brink of the abyss." It also would seem that this represents a marked swing to what is popularly known as the "left."

Some observers express the view that France is headed toward Communism. They believe they are finding additional support for this

In De Gaulle's friendly relations with Moscow and the appointment of two Communists to his cabinet.

Whatever may be the eventual landing place of the political arrow which the French leader has shot into the air, we shall do well to stick to the obvious rather than to speculate. The facts appear to be that France is swinging to the "left," and that Communism is exercising considerable influence on the trend.

As for Gen. de Gaulle, it should be noted that he never has announced Communistic leanings, and if France is moving toward that "ism" he may be subject to the trend rather than its author.

Dr. Anderson explained the author's opinion of the moral collapse of countries following the last war leading to brutality in Germany, lust for power in Italy, and puppet obedience to the Kremlin in Russia. Reaction to this collapse in British and American countries was more passive acceptance to the will of the governing powers, which the author stated was less to be desired than open revolt.

The speaker told of Cobban's description of what he called the decline and fall of democracy, owing to the desire of many other things, including lands and territories by democracy which are incompatible to its main desire for peace.

Cobban proposed a return to the natural law based on natural rights, for example those contained in the Constitution of the United States. He added the right of association to the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

Overseas League Hears Book Review

Describing the book, "Crisis of Civilization," by Alfred Cobban, as one of the most practical yet written on the process of reconstruction following the war, Dr. Henrietta Anderson presented a thought-provoking review of this book to a meeting of the Overseas League Wednesday. Sir Robert Holland presided.

Dr. Anderson explained the author's opinion of the moral collapse of countries following the last war leading to brutality in Germany, lust for power in Italy, and puppet obedience to the Kremlin in Russia. Reaction to this collapse in British and American countries was more passive acceptance to the will of the governing powers, which the author stated was less to be desired than open revolt.

Desserts, Salads, Pickles, Use Health-Giving Apples

By CATHERINE SIMPSON,
Victoria Home Economics Association for Victoria Nutrition Committee

"Delight in Every Bite." We are referring, of course, to apples. Canada produces the best flavored, most highly-colored and longest-keeping apples. Every one enjoys an apple. But what are some reasons for eating apples from a nutritional point of view? Apples contain minerals and vitamins, carbohydrates, water and protein and fat (in small amounts). Canada's Official Food Rules tell us to eat fruit every day because of the health-giving properties it contains. What could be easier than to eat "an apple a day." Either raw or cooked, apples are nutritious.

Whenever we think of apples for dessert, we think of the old favorite:

Apple Sauce
Six apples, ½ cup water, ½ cup sugar, lemon juice, nutmeg, cinnamon or cloves (as desired). Wash fruit. Remove cores, slice. Cover and cook gently until tender. Add sugar to sweeten and cook a minute longer. Apples may be cooked in their skins and pressed through a sieve. Better still, leave the skins on. They are valuable as roughage. Don't forget the possibilities of apple sauce with meat, especially with pork.

Baked Apples

1. Wipe, core and score apples. Place in a baking dish.
2. Fill centre with sugar. Add lemon juice, ¼ tsp. cinnamon for flavoring.
3. Dates, raisins, or nuts add variation.
4. Pour water around the apples.

5. Bake in a moderate oven until soft, 30 to 45 minutes. Baste every 10 minutes.
6. Lift out on serving dish. Pour the juice over apples.

7. Serve hot or cold, with or without cream.

This makes an easily-prepared and delicious dessert at any time. Excellent for the lunch-box, too.

Apple Cake Bread
One-quarter cup shortening, ½ cup sugar, 1 egg, 2 cups sifted pastry flour, 1 tsp. baking powder, 1 tsp. soda, 1 tsp. salt, 2 cups coarsely-grated raw apple, ½ cup chopped nuts.
Cream shortening and sugar until fluffy. Add beaten egg until smooth. Sift flour, measure and sift twice with baking powder, soda and salt. Add to creamed mixture alternately with apples. Stir in nuts lastly. Bake one hour in a moderate oven, 325 degrees, F.

Apple Sauce Cake
One cup white sugar, ½ cup shortening, 1 egg, pinch salt, 1½ cups apple sauce, 2 cups pastry flour, 2 tps. baking soda, 2 cups seeded raisins, ½ tsp. each of cloves, cinnamon and nutmeg.
Cream shortening and sugar. Add well beaten egg. Add spices, ½ the apple sauce and ½ the flour. Add the rest of the apple sauce with the soda dissolved in it. Add balance of flour and raisins. Bake at 350 degrees, F. for one hour.

Red Apple Salad
Scoop out the centres of bright red Canadian apples, to make them into cups. Put them into water containing a little lemon juice until ready to fill them. Mix equal parts of the apple pulp with celery, grapefruit and cream dressing. Refill the apple cups. Serve on a bed of crisp lettuce.

Apple Chutney
A dozen apples, 2 green peppers, 1 red pepper, 1 pint cider, 1 vinegar, juice of 4 lemons, 1 onion, 2 cups sugar, 1 tsp. ground ginger, 1 tsp. salt.

Chop the apples, onion and peppers very fine. Add vinegar, let simmer one hour, stirring often. Add the other ingredients and cook another hour, stirring frequently. Bottle and seal.

Clubwomen
At a meeting of the committee for the Aged and Infirm Women's Home, it was reported several improvements have been made to the buildings and new equipment installed. Mrs. D. C. Heddie presided and committee for the month includes Mrs. Heddie, convenor, Mrs. D. Scott and Mrs. E. Cridge.

A meeting representative of the women of the community of Cordova Bay was held at the home of Mrs. K. M. Lewis when it was agreed to form an Anglican Women's Guild. Rev. F. Pike presided, and officers elected were: Mrs. F. Pottage, president; Mrs. Ranger, vice-president; Mrs. J. Netterfield, secretary-treasurer. The guild members propose to canvass the community for funds to purchase a site for a church and church buildings on which an option has been taken. Canvassers will be appointed and arrangements made at the next meeting which will be at the home of Mrs. Pottage, Cordova Bay Road, Oct. 17. Mrs. English, Mrs. J. E. French and Mrs. Ranger were appointed delegates to the Ruri-Decanal Conference, being held at St. Barnabas', Thursday evening.

Mrs. D. B. F. Bullen, Marshwood, was hostess to St. Matthew's Guild members Wednesday afternoon. Members will decorate the church for the harvest festival services Sunday, the vegetables donated going to the Salvation Army. "The Challenge," a new diocesan magazine, will be taken by individual members. Mrs. T. Millward read selections from "Forward." Tentative plans were made for the Christmas sale to be held Dec. 6.

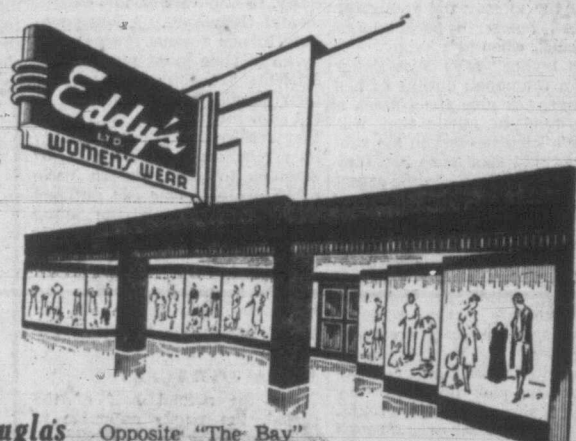

Mexico City is planning a new aqueduct from the Lerma river basin will generate electric power at three plants en route, supply the city, and irrigate neighboring areas east of the capital.

Christmas Gifts Sent Overseas By Red Cross

It is Christmas in October in the B.C. warehouses of the Canadian Red Cross Society, as gifts of clothing, jam, comforts and food are packed into their big cases for shipment to England, France, Italy and the Middle East.

Thousands of gift packages from the women's auxiliaries of the army, navy and air force have already been shipped under the Red Cross symbol, destined to carry Christmas greetings to men serving all over the world.

War-time orphans in British nurseries will attend their Christmas festivities in clothe: as smart and carefully made as those of any well-loved child. These have been made by members of the Junior Red Cross in B.C. schools and include complete outfits from underwear and shoes to hats and gowns.

Jam for Britain has gone out by the ton during the past month, and many a table will be highlighted during the Christmas festivities by a dish of this sweet, so dear to the British heart. Woollen comforts by the thousands have been shipped as well, and will be distributed to servicemen and women with the Canadian forces overseas.

Sing for Joy of It At Victoria High

Miss Norma Douglas conducts choral group.

By ART STOTT

The song rises clear, bright and cheerful. The voices blend in attractive harmony. The singers' faces are happy. They are singing as they like to sing and the product is a merry melody with immediate appeal.

"The Donkey's Serenade" may be presented more skillfully, but not with more enjoyment than by the young voices of boys and girls who sing it in Miss Norma Douglas' music class at Victoria High School. The selection is symbolic of her approach to the subject she is teaching. Not heavily classical it is still the tune the hardshell is inclined to hum when he thinks no one is listening. Not boogie-woogie it is still the melody the youngster whistles, hands in pockets and head back, when he's happy.

"I'm trying," says Miss Douglas in a thumbnail outline of her objective, "to give the classes a background of music that will arouse a keen interest in the subject and will continue when they are through school. In the actual singing, my aim is to help them enjoy that form of expression and to lose the self-consciousness from which so many suffer."

Those purposes are the framework on which she weaves a more elaborate fabric. Some of her students are taking credits in music. For them there is a more serious side to the course. Others just sit in, pick up what they can and sing with the groups. Half a dozen classes pass through her hands daily. Each contains 25 to 35 students. Generally the girls take more advanced work, follow the more intricate techniques and attempt the more ambitious selections. But all are given the opportunity to develop an appreciation of music.

It's a painless operation. DON'T SAY CLASSICAL—Realizing the reaction the word

"classical" has for the younger generation, Miss Douglas avoids its use. In her classes "less serious" or "more serious" selections are studied. To many, the word "classical" has an implication similar to those long-necked blue bottles in which rancid castor oil used to come.

A period in class is liberal entertainment for an observer. The room is hung with photographs of outstanding musical personalities, from "name" band leaders of talent, up through the ranks to men like Paul Robeson, John Charles Thomas and other artists of appeal to the most discriminating taste.

The lesson may start with a gramophone selection by Artie Shaw, to illustrate certain instrumental techniques. A less popularly known serious presentation by an all-time great may follow. Students are encouraged to use their imaginative propensities, to tell class members the impression they receive from the recording, its symbolism and subject. Discussions follow in which basic principles of music are outlined by Miss Douglas and the young people learn to look for what is best.

On blackboards are the names of new recordings students are invited to hear. They are of the type which would naturally attract the young people.

ATTRACTIVE TUNES

For the second half of the period, the pupils assemble in voice groups before a blackboard where groups before a blackboard are learning. They sing and they like it. To piano accompaniment, their teacher steps them right along, teaching emphasis, picking up time, introducing harmony. Typical of one afternoon's efforts were "Silver on the Sage," which, Miss Douglas says, is about as far as the class goes in love songs, "Oklahoma," "The himself! By gazing at his own image, he could have a model without cost. Again and again, he painted his portrait. The pictures which have come down to us from that period in his life differ a great deal, but this does not prove lack of skill on the part of the young artist. The expression on a person's face changes from year to year, even from day to day or from moment to moment.

During the years between 18 and 25, Rembrandt also used his parents as models. Many a time his aged mother sat for him. When he painted her, he did not skip the wrinkles which care had placed upon her face. He was not trying to make his paintings beautiful; he wanted them to be true to life.

After seven years spent in that manner at Leyden, Rembrandt went to Amsterdam to take up life as a professional artist. Living in the home of an art dealer, he at first used the dealer's sister as a model, but before long the citizens of Amsterdam began to come to him to have their portraits painted. For these portraits, he was paid.

Rembrandt lived to the age of 63. His fame grew, and at times he received good prices for his pictures, but he was in poverty at the time of his death. He left the world, however, about 300 paintings, along with many drawings and etchings. Among his most interesting paintings are those of Saskia, the young and kindly wife who brightened his life during the eight years she lived after marrying him.

Grape Harvest On in Saanich

Grape harvest is now under way in Saanich. Growers say they have a pretty good crop, much better than the last two years, because this year rain came at the right time.

H. M. Parker, whose vineyard is on the West Saanich Road at the Brentwood crossroads, said that this year's grapes are better flavor and the bunches larger. He estimated his crop at between two and three tons.

Practically the whole Saanich crop will be taken by city consumers in lots of 25 to 100 pounds for grape juice, jelly and wine, the growers said. The grapes are selling at 7 cents a pound at the vineyards.

May Vary By-law To Aid Building

Amendment of the city plumbing by-law to permit emergency use of available pipe supplies was foreshadowed in instructions to the city solicitor from the City Council Wednesday. The course was taken upon advice from J. A. Birnie, plumbing inspector, present regulations would hold up building here through by-law restrictions preventing use of the only supplies the trade can secure. At Ald. Archie Wille's suggestion the city solicitor was instructed to discuss the matter with Mr. Birnie and, if necessary, draft required by-law amendments.

FOUR DUTCH ARTIST FOUND A MODEL IN LOOKING GLASS

Four years after the Pilgrims started the village of Plymouth, an 18-year-old Dutch boy returned to his home in Leyden, Holland. He had been studying art in Amsterdam.

Rembrandt Harmen Van Rijn was one of the younger children in a large family. His father, a miller, was not poor, but money was far from free in the household. The youth could little afford to hire models to sit for him while he sketched or painted.

In Rembrandt's bare room there hung "an old fragment of a looking-glass," and in that glass he found a model. The model was

SKIN BLEMISHES RESPOND TO VITAMINS

Science shows that many skin troubles due to lack of vitamins

Lemon and lime juice were once used on long sea voyages to offset the dread scourge of scurvy. Today we know the mark lay in the vitamins these citrus fruits contain. Now, for many skin and complexion faults, science says—take vitamins daily. "ALL-IN-ONE" Vitamin Tablets give not one vitamin alone, but 6 vital vitamins. Each helps the other to function. Fortify your daily diet with "ALL-IN-ONE" Vitamin Tablets. The cost is only $2.15 for a month's supply. At most drug stores.

Venice Mapes and "mystery" salmon.

"A peculiar sort of fish," often used to describe the man who is a little different from his fellows, is being used in a more literal sense at B.C. Packers Ltd., Ogden Point, as they look at an 18-pound salmon which seems to be suffering from a confusion of antecedents.

Brought in Friday by Peter Mitchell, an Indian, aboard his troller, Betty, the fish has caused considerable speculation among employees at the plant. Most agree it is not exactly a spring, coho, sockeye, steelhead or dog-fish, but that it has a sockeye mouth and head, a body something like that of a coho, a spring salmon tail with steelhead markings on it.

Dr. Clifford Carl, director of the provincial museum, examined the fish Wednesday, but did not wish to make any positive identification, and as the fish was frozen, he was unable to make a further examination by cutting it open.

He is sending the "mystery fish" to the Pacific Biological Station, Departure Bay, near Nanaimo, where he hopes positive identification will be made after the salmon has been dissected. There were cases of "crosses," Dr. Carl said, and it was possible for the eggs of one type of salmon to be fertilized by another type, but it was unusual. There were also cases of "crosses" brought about by artificial fertilization, he added.

Arena Finance Duty Impressed On Labor

Labor organizations and their social affiliates were reminded by George Wilkinson Wednesday evening of their responsibility to assist in raising $65,000 towards costs of a civic arena as he reported to the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council on most recent developments in arena negotiations.

During the meeting H. Duncan thanked delegates who had assisted in the Community Chest drive in a progress report on the industrial section in that campaign.

Mr. Duncan and Mr. Wilkinson were elected council representatives to the approaching Trades and Labor Congress convention, to which Charles Peck, Charles Chivers and H. Rowland will also go from the city.

Gladys Ashton, C. Peck, F. Baines, H. Duncan and R. Hill were appointed to a special committee to stimulate the use of union labels locally.

A resolution from the Joint Labor - Veterans' Consultative Council on postwar rehabilitation problems was endorsed.

Delegates protested statements by Ernest Ingels, chairman of the building trades group of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, at a recent builders' convention here, in which Mr. Ingels criticized controls established under National Selective Service and the government.

New delegates seated were: John Magee, Greater Victoria Teachers' Association; D. Duncan and D. Wilson, B.C. Cement Workers' Union; W. J. Woodward, Victoria Postal Employees; G. Scott and A. Jowett, National Defence Workers; R. Armstrong, Electrical Workers; Richard Hill, Thomas Twit and Charles Davis, Brotherhood of Carpenters.

24th Installation Of Gyro Officers

Nearly 200 Gyros and their guests watched Jack Ryan, Nanaimo, governor of district No. 4 of the Gyro Club, install W. Allan Pendray as president of the Victoria Club at its 24th annual installation dinner held in the Empress Hotel Wednesday evening.

Other officers of the club installed were: Hart H. Henderson, vice-president; William C. Hudson, secretary-treasurer, and Leonard W. Cox, John F. Mercer, A. F. Osborough, G. B. Paterson, Mark C. Trueman, directors. Mr. Hudson has held his office as secretary-treasurer for the last four years.

Past President Fred W. Hawes asked the club for continued efforts towards charity and a continuance of work for the Solatium. President Pendray, in answering, assured him he would carry on the good work in the club.

Among prominent Gyro guests attending the function were Hon. R. L. Maitland, Attorney-General; G. Yorke, Gyro International vice-president; Judy Wright, president of the Seattle Gyro Club with 10 Seattle Gyros; "Doc" Morrison, president of Nanaimo Gyros, with 21 members of that town's club; Dean Mansell, Vancouver president with 17 members of Vancouver Gyro, and other members from Portland, New Westminster and Regina.

Official part of the dinner ended with presentation of the past president pin to Mr. Hawes by Mr. Yorke. The Gyros and their guests then danced to the tune of Gyro Charlie Hunt's orchestra.

Two films, "Our Northern Neighbor" and "Across Canada," were shown in the Chamber of Commerce Auditorium Tuesday night by George E. Willis, under the auspices of the Vancouver Island Travel Service.

Second film in the two-hour show, "Our Northern Neighbor," showed the growth and power of the Soviet Union, tracing Russia from the time of the revolution of 1917 up to present days. The picture also showed war preparations made by the Russians.

'Y' Pool Opened With Swim Demonstration

With six Victoria national swimming champions giving a demonstration, the Y.M.C.A. pool was officially opened Wednesday evening by W. T. Straith, K.C., M.L.A., president of the Y.M.C.A. board of directors. The new filter and chlorination plant has been installed and the pool has been open to swimmers since the beginning of the week.

Mr. Straith made a surprise announcement of a $2,500 bequest to the Y.M.C.A. for the construction of a pavilion at the camp site at Glinz Lake. He said that it would probably be a postwar project.

He paid tribute to A. E. "Pop" Haynes, chief engineer for the fine work in getting the $3,500 filter and chlorination plant installed. He also had high praise for Archie McKinnon, swimming instructor, for his fine work with the swimmers, and for developing six Canadian swimming titleholders here. Frank Paulding, general secretary, introduced Mr. Straith.

The titleholders, Peter Salmon, Dick Bowden, Bill Turkington,

Don Smyth, Ina Salmon, Joan Morgan and Aileen Smyth gave a demonstration. Members of the junior and senior clubs also conducted races and relays and used the 10 new surf kick boards.

Approximately 100 friends and relatives of the swimmers attended the pool opening. The program was arranged by George H. Morgan, president of the swimming club.

Beginners' swimming classes are the largest in the history of the "Y," Archie McKinnon reported. During the past two days alone he has enrolled 125 boys and girls for the beginners' classes, which are now underway.

The entire physical program is started, Mr. McKinnon said, and is going very well except for the businessmen's classes, which are still down in the membership. Senior businessmen's classes are Mondays and Thursdays at 5:30; junior businessmen, Tuesday and Friday at 5:30 and young men's classes Tuesday and Fridays at 8:15.

Chest Campaign Wind-up Next Week

Last year's total collections for Community Chest have now been passed, it was announced this morning by Frank Paulding, campaign director. Wednesday night saw $73,875.71 in at campaign headquarters, 1006 Government St., and the remaining $300 needed to pass last year's figure of $74,094.11 came in this morning.

Mr. Paulding is confident that $80,000 will be collected within the next day or two, but he pointed out that an intensive effort will have to be put on during the next and final week of the campaign if the necessary $90,000 is to be obtained.

Members of the provincial civil service have contributed more to the present Community Chest campaign than at any other time in the history of the chest. To date they have turned in $1,629.91, compared with a total last year of $1,353, and they report that there is more to come.

The Community Chest office will be closed Monday, Thanksgiving Day.

It will be open, however, all the rest of next week. Mr. Paulding said, to wind-up the campaign. Another volunteer office worker to aid in the wind-up is urgently needed, he said.

Wednesday totals, by divisions were as follows: Special names, $1,483; business, $743; residential, $968.03; commercial, $838.20; public services, $1,100.07; industrial, $232; hotels, $90.50.

Fane Sewell, Banker, Dies Here Suddenly

Fane Sewell, retired banker, well known in eastern Canada, died at St. Joseph's Hospital early today following a sudden illness.

Funeral arrangements are in the hands of Hayward's and will be announced later.

C.P.R. Employees Organize For Loan Campaign

Organizing divisional committees to put over Canadian Pacific Railway Employees' Victory Loan campaign, Fred M. Rutter, assistant to the general superintendent of the British Columbia district, and Ross Wilson of the National War Finance Committee, today presided over round-table discussions with Empress Hotel, B.C. Coast Steamships and Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway employees.

Mr. Rutter, who is provincial campaign manager for the C.P.R. employees' drive, stated the B.C. loan objective is $804,900, the highest yet, the last being $622,000, which was oversubscribed.

"We have always oversubscribed our objectives and we are going to make it this time," said Mr. Rutter.

Chairmen for the C.P.R. employees' 7th Victory Loan campaign in B.C. are: John A. Kennedy, superintendent, E. & N. Railway; W. Tyson, B.C. Coast Steamships; E. H. Roberge, Empress Hotel with committee representatives from the various C.P.R. organizations in the province.

J. V. Cook, railway liaison officer, attended the conference.

At the conclusion of the meeting a talkie-movie titled "Sales Training" was shown.

Mr. Rutter and Mr. Wilson are touring the province organizing divisional committees and giving Victoria Loan sales pep talks.

Island Presbytery In Session Here

Delegates from 40 pastorates and congregations throughout Vancouver Island gathered in First United Church Wednesday afternoon, for the opening session of a two-day meeting of the Victoria Presbytery of the United Church of Canada.

Rev. W. P. Bunt, United Church secretary of missions for British Columbia, in his report given Wednesday night, said that the war had caused a shortage of mission workers all across Canada. A report on the home mission board was given by Rev. J. C. Jackson of Victoria West United Church.

Rev. E. S. Fleming of Ladysmith is chairman of presbytery, and Rev. J. Currie Thomason of Wilkinson Road and Garden City churches, Victoria, secretary.

During roll call, reference was made to A. Menzies of Pender Island, who is celebrating his 88th birthday, but owing to illness is unable to attend the meeting. For many years he never missed a session of presbytery. Tribute was paid Rev. C. M. Dairmid, who is this year celebrating the 50th anniversary of his ordination to the Christian ministry.

Names of Thomas Challis, Koksilah, and Austin McTaggart, Qualicum, were presented and accepted as candidates to the ministry. Rev. F. W. Hardy, Sidney, was elected to the office of convener of Christian Education. A welcome was extended to Dr. T. E. Holling who is supplying the pulpit at Belmont Church. At the evening session Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered and Rev. E. S. Fleming gave the Communion address.

Argue Privilege In Slander Appeal

Argument over the extent to which statements made by Jessie Miller Ness were privileged was presented to Court of Appeal today in Mrs. Ness' appeal from a judgment granting Adeline Baker Ashford $350 damages and costs for slander.

The case arises from an incident at Sooke, during which Mrs. Ashford allegedly cared for goods of Mrs. Ness while the latter was in hospital. On her return to her property, Mrs. Ness reportedly told provincial police "Mrs. Ashford has stolen my stuff and is a thief."

Stuart Henderson, for the appellant, today emphasized the point Mrs. Ness was speaking to provincial police officers who had put Mrs. Ashford in charge of the Ness property, and argued her statements were privileged to the extent they were neither libelous nor slanderous. He took the position the trial judge could not have found libel without slander on the evidence.

Counsel asked for a new trial or a verdict in favor of his client, as well as dismissal of the application of the opposing party for higher damages.

H. W. Davey, counsel for Mrs. Ashford, said statements by Mrs. Ness to the police, March 13, would have been privileged if they had been made honestly. The trial judge, however, had found they were not, and that the woman was actuated by malice.

Later statements were made without purpose, he said. The case is continuing.

Mayhew Asks Ottawa Aid To Keep Boeing Running

R. W. Mayhew, M.P., has written Prime Minister Mackenzie King asking the government to intervene in closure of the Victoria Boeing plant.

Mr. Mayhew said possible movement of local workers to the Vancouver plant of Boeing would not indicate a reduction in output, but merely a shift from smaller to larger areas.

Such a move, Mr. Mayhew said he pointed out to the Prime Minister, would not be quite fair to the personnel and if they did go to Vancouver lack of housing accommodation would present difficulties.

Mr. Mayhew also asked consideration on the advisability at this time of reducing the aircraft industry's production.

Regarding aircraft production, Mr. Mayhew said he is of the opinion it would be better to keep the plant open on the side of over supply, rather than on short supply, as proved the case in the shipbuilding program early in the war, when it was said the United Nations had all the ships they needed. This, however, Mr. Mayhew said, was a mistake and many months of ship production were lost. He mentioned also that at one period it was said Canada had enough shells to last for years, yet, hardly had the fighting really started when a call came to go back into hurried shell production. He asked that the same situation be not allowed to apply to the aircraft industry.

Mr. Mayhew stressed that if a reduction has to take place, it should not be confined to any one country, or any part of any one country.

Al Young, manager of the local Boeing plant, said today there is no new development and that the 350 workers are carrying on from day to day, with their fingers crossed, hoping for the best.

New Fire Regulations To Become Law Nov. 1

B.C. public, gathered in public halls, will be safeguarded as far as possible when new fire regulations, drawn up under the "Fire Marshal Act" become law Nov. 1, Attorney-General R. L. Maitland announced today.

The Attorney-General's department, with the advice of the fire marshal and his assistant and a prominent architect, W. F. Gardiner of Vancouver, commenced the new regulations a short time after the disastrous dance hall fire in Boston 18 months ago. Other fatal fires in St. John's, Newfoundland, and Hamilton, gave impetus to this work and showed the importance and necessity of the strictest regulations in British Columbia, Mr. Maitland said.

Before any new hall or alteration to standing hall is commenced, plans must be fully inspected by the fire marshal or his local assistant, and also approved by local building inspectors and fire departments.

FREE ACCESS
Every hall must be so located that there will be free access from the front and back or from the front and at least one side. And entrances to halls shall be not less than five feet in width and shall be equipped with double leaf doors opening outwards. No double swing or revolving doors will be allowed. Entrance doors must remain unlocked and free to open at all times when the hall is in use. Entrances shall open from streets, though where the fire marshal sees fit entrances may be permitted to open from lanes.

Two or more halls in the same building, according to the regulations, shall be treated separately, and where common stairs are used the width of the stairs shall be increased in accordance with the total floor area served. In all halls routes of egress shall be clearly indicated by signs and shall lead as directly as possible to a street, lane or court.

EXIT SIGNS
All exits from halls shall be clearly indicated by signs illuminated from behind, which show the word EXIT in red letters not less than six inches in height. Passages and corridors leading to exits shall be lighted throughout their length and where any diversion in direction takes place, the route shall be indicated by an arrow sign not less than 18 inches long and one and one-half inches wide, pointing the change in direction. Outside each exit a white light shall be kept burning while the hall is occupied.

All doors leading to exits shall be clearly indicated by signs illuminated from behind, which show the word EXIT in red letters not less than six inches in height. Passages and corridors leading to exits shall be lighted throughout their length and where any diversion in direction takes place, the route shall be indicated by an arrow sign not less than 18 inches long and one and one-half inches wide, pointing the change in direction. Outside each exit a white light shall be kept burning while the hall is occupied.

Bombers Again Raid Borneo Oil Centre, Says Tokyo Radio

Tokyo radio indicated today Allied bombers are wasting no time in their long-distance campaign to knock out the vital oil-producing centre at Balikpapan, Borneo.

A Domei news agency broadcast reported 40 four-engined bombers struck Tuesday in the second mass raid at Balikpapan. Sixty Liberators had struck the first heavy blow three days previously. Only Wednesday Gen. MacArthur promised this important source of Japanese oil and aviation gasoline would be pounded into uselessness, "drastically and immediately" curtailing Japan's ability to fight in the air or on the sea.

Heavy shipping losses have already reduced Nippon's ability to exploit rich Dutch Indies oil resources and forced development of synthetic substitutes.

Another tanker was among 11 Japanese ships sunk or badly damaged in new air strikes ranging from the southern approaches to the Philippines to Chichi Island, 615 miles south of Tokyo. The others were mostly small freighters.

FOOD DIFFICULTIES
Shipping losses have forced curtailment of importation of rice, the imperial agricultural administration said, in admitting losing a battle in "war of food-stuffs." Nippon usually imports 20 per cent of its rice, the country's basic food.

However, Tokyo announced a "great leap" in munitions production, and increased output of airplanes, estimated by U.S. sources at more than 1,400 a month.

Japan's newest invasion, Chungking announced, has driven to the outskirts of Fochow, last large Chinese-held port on the central China coast.

In the central China offensive which has cost the 14th U.S. Air Force six advanced bombers in recent months, Nipponese columns captured the rail town of Hingan, 31 miles northeast of Kweilin, and broke into Changning, which had been holding up the left flank of the advance.

DEMOLITION AT KWEILIN
A delayed dispatch from Kweilin dated Oct. 2, reported a handful of U.S. were waiting to finish demolishing their base there when the Nipponese got too close. The enemy was then 14 miles away.

Japanese broadcasts reported a U.S. destroyer exploded and sank off Palau, where 10,987 Japanese soldiers have been killed, and told of the formation of a "thought army" to "firmly maintain full conviction of certain victory."

Canadian Scottish Entered Calais
WITH THE 1ST CANADIAN ARMY IN BELGIUM (CP)—The Canadian Scottish, a 3rd Division unit from Victoria, B.C., one of the units participating in last week's Calais attack, was assigned the task of approaching Calais along the coast road from the west and entering the citadel area of the town.

A small force under Maj. Peter Pugh of Vancouver pushed under cover of darkness into a corner of the citadel and remained isolated from the unit for 48 hours. They experienced little hardship, however, because they had taken over German positions well stocked with food and supplies.

When the Germans surrendered the Scottish occupied the dock area and the north side of Calais closest to the sea.

Must Prevent Chaos

OTTAWA (CP)—Donald Gordon, Prices Board chairman, said today in an interview that board controls imposed to prevent chaos in prices and supplies must be removed in "a sensible way" as war demands lessen or chaos will come with peace.

"We have had the responsibility of imposing controls during the wartime period and we recognize we have a similar responsibility in removing them," he said. "The board's policy is that we shall press for the relaxation of controls as quickly as possible, for from our point of view the sooner they can be dispensed with the better." Mr. Gordon said, adding "we are not attempting to organize a planned economy for Canada."

The board will remain in the picture during the transition period after the peace, whenever it comes.

Zachary Scott's First Showing at Capitol

Zachary Scott, the good-looking, tall, young man whom Warner Bros. signed from the cast of the New York hit, "Those Endearing Young Charms," is especially chipper these days.

Not only has he found a house to live in, but he has been given the leading role in his very first picture, "The Mask of Dimitrios," the cast of which includes Peter Lorre, Sydney Greenstreet and Faye Emerson. The film opens today at the Capitol Theatre.

Newcomer Hodiak Stars With 'Maisie'

The question of who would be Maisie's seventh leading man was answered by the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer announcement that John Hodiak, brilliant newcomer, would appear opposite Ann Sothern in the latest of the popular series, "Maisie Goes to Reno," which opens tomorrow at the Dominion Theatre.

Hodiak, who in the short space of a year has skyrocketed to screen prominence, was discovered by an M-G-M talent scout in Chicago, where Hodiak was appearing in radio shows. Brought to Hollywood he appeared in "I Dood It," "A Stranger in Town," "Lifeboat" and "Song of Russia," and is now completing the leading role opposite Lana Turner in "Marriage Is a Private Affair."

Where To Go Tonight

ATLAS — Fredric March in "The Adventures of Mark Twain."
CADET — "Chip Off the Old Block," starring Donald O'Connor.
CAPITOL — Sydney Greenstreet and Faye Emerson in "The Mask of Dimitrios."
DOMINION — "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer," starring Tommy Kelly.
OAK BAY-PLAZA — "Moonlight in Vermont," starring Gloria Jean.

March's Make-up Covers 50 Years

To complete his role as Samuel Clemens in Warner Bros. "The Adventures of Mark Twain," now at the Atlas Theatre, Fredric March had to age from 25 to 75. With the help of the makeup department March, like time, progressed through the various sequences, adding wrinkles, beads and eyebrows as the situation demanded.

He went from Mississippi River steamboat pilot to husband and father, thence to established author, and finally to the recipient of an Oxford degree. All of this occupied some 50 years in time, some 12 weeks on the sound stage and some two hours daily in the makeup department. Thousands of photographs and drawings of Twain were used in recreating makeups for March which would be identical with the famous author.

Oldest, Youngest, In Cadet Picture

The oldest and youngest stand-ins at Universal Studios happened by coincidence, to work on the same set in the current Donald O'Connor-Peggy Ryan comedy, "Chip Off the Old Block," now screening at the Cadet Theatre.

The oldest stand-in is Bert Keyes, 57, who stepped into place of the 'teen age O'Connor when the lights were being lined up and the cameras adjusted.

The youngest stand-in is six-year-old Paul Spinner, who performed the same service for seven-year-old Joel Kupperman, mathematical genius of "Quiz Kids" radio fame.

Rio Shows Western

binations on the screen, having been teamed in a series of Brown starrers for Monogram, the latest of which is the adventure-packed western drama, "West of the Rio Grande," which starts today at the Rio Theatre.
